This is your last delivery for the 2008 growing season. I had hoped to be able to deliver veggies throughout the winter months, but the recent cold weather has slowed things down in the field too severely. I just don't have the volume of produce to continue deliveries this winter. I do plan to start up deliveries again in early spring. I'll keep you posted on that. In the meantime, I will have navel oranges, lemons, tangelos and grapefruit in abundance in the next few months. I will send emails when I have those products available, or you can check the website (www.wiseacrefarm.com)

I would like to sincerely thank you for your patronage of our small farm this past year. I hope you have enjoyed your fresh, local and seasonal veggies. I also hope that some of the items in your weekly boxes have been new to you and that you have found some new favorites. I wish you all a very happy holiday and a wonderful new year. Thank you again for supporting Wise Acre Farm.

Your box contains some or all of the following:

Broccoli, "Cheddar Cauliflower*", Purple Cauliflower, Cabbage, Chard, Lettuce Mix, Potatoes (from another farm), Navel Oranges, Dried Herb mix (Parsley, Rosemary, Sage, Oregano)

*Some of the cauliflower has a little frost damage, but is just fine to eat

Happy Holidays to you and your loved ones!
